

PLATIS GIALOS HOUSE

PROJECT: PLATIS GIALOS HOUSE

LOCATION: MIKONOS . GREECE

LAND SURFACE: 3520 m²

YEAR: 2015 (under construction)

Into a singular terrain, because of its shape, access and complex topography, is placed this house that enjoys breathtaking views to the blue Mediterranean.

The project of this house was commissioned by a Greek company, which carries out real estate developments on the island.

The house is integrated in a kindly way on what was originally a hostile topography. A large rock separates into two sectors the site. On one side the house that is developed in two levels. The bedrooms in suite in one of the levels, and in the other the living room, dining room and kitchen integrated in a unique space with multiple views and surrounding terraces.

On the other side of the rock and at a higher level of the land, the porch, a large infinity pool and sundeck are located.

Outside, architecture of white volumes, stone walls and traditional wooden pergolas, is complemented by a contemporary and minimalist interior design.

About the landscape proposal, footpaths and terraces are created in the arid parts of the land and profuse gardens in the courtyards, where given that the height of its stone walls the vegetation is protected from the winds of the island.
