LOFT IN BARCELONA

SPAIN

This renovation project is set in the neighborhood of Gracia one of the neighborhoods with more glamour of Barcelona, and a very cosmopolitan place of residence

The biggest challenge was to unify the two separate spaces creating a single housing unit Originally the spaces was very compartmentalized and one of the units overlooked a dark inner patio preventing good ventilation and natural lighting.

The first concept was to open the space, allowing the light and air to circulate freely.

To this end the two spaces were joined by a staircase. On the ground floor a unique space with the living room and the kitchen was designed On the north end a room separated by a sliding door could join the rest of the space and a spacious bathroom was designed

On the top floor , a multipurpose room was designed that could be used to work and a hall communicated with another bedroom and an independent bathroom.
